My Continuing Priority: Protect You and Your Family

A Two-year Budget for Our State

The budget that I voted for, while imperfect, helped move our state forward. We cut over three billion dollars, spent less than the last fiscal year, raised revenue on couples who earn over one million dollars a year and protected vital investments for students, seniors and middle-income families.

I am still going to keep a watchful eye and a sharpened pencil for our revenue and spending numbers. As your budget watchdog, it is my job to make sure we are getting everything we can for your hard-earned dollars.

Insurance Coverage for Autistic Children

Help is on the way for the thousands of Connecticut families with children who suffer from autism spectrum disorders.

Beginning on January 1, health insurance policies in Connecticut must cover the diagnosis and treatment of autism spectrum disorders, including behavioral therapy for a child age 15 and younger, certain prescription drugs and certain psychiatric and psychological services.
